Title IX Basics for All K-12 School Staff

Does your entire staff understand Title IX?
Provide comprehensive training to your team to avoid lawsuits.

As the new school year begins, it is essential that every school staff member know the details of Title IX and how it applies to students. A mistake by one uninformed employee could lead to costly lawsuits and financial penalties.

To protect students and employees from all forms of sex discrimination, you need to ensure all teachers and staff members understand and comply with the current rules. They must move away from obsolete definitions and procedures and know their legal obligations.

- What are the history, purpose, and scope of Title IX?
- What procedures should teachers follow related to Title IX concerns?
- How does it cover athletics, pregnancy, employment, and LGBTQ students?
- How should school staff members adapt based on the recent changes?
- What specific steps must all school staff members take to avoid discriminating?
- What other laws relate to Title IX matters?

Learn answers to these questions and more during our upcoming webinar:

Title IX Basics for All K-12 School Staff

Thursday, September 7

Attached in my working document of books I have removed, or attempted to remove, from our library (print and digital) as instructed by SB 150, our board attorney, and central office. I do not have access to remove the digital books from Sora. Stephanie, I am taking you up on your offer to remove the digital books due to not being able to do this myself. Thank you! You can find those titles on the bottom of the document. I will continue to work, edit this document as needed.

Title IX Investigator Certification (K-12): Advanced Training

Prepare for a Safer School Year. Comply with Title IX and earn a certification.

As students return for the new school year, they will soon raise concerns that dictate Title IX investigations. You must follow the current regulations and prepare investigation reports that meet legal requirements. A cursory familiarity is not enough—every school must have investigators with advanced knowledge to avoid lawsuits and regulatory penalties.

Investigations under Title IX are not limited to claims of sexual harassment. They may also include discrimination based on sex, sexual orientation, and gender identity, including within athletics or during pregnancy.

The Title IX Investigator Certification Advanced Training program will enable you to:

- Conduct all types of Title IX investigations under the latest, current requirements
- Prepare necessary investigation reports
- Protect your school district from potential legal liability
- Prove your expertise to colleagues, students, parents, and regulators with your Title IX Investigator Certification

Steve,

Since you have been working with the LMS's in regard to SB 150 and know the manner in which they have been "weeding" the library circulations, I have been asked by a parent that is concerned about the amount of items that have been removed from the high school's library circulation. She has specifically requested that a justification for each item be provided since she figured the value of what was removed to be around $8,000. I would like to see that justification as well since it appears that many things have been unnecessarily removed if the only standard of removal is SB 150. Can you reach out to David and work on this? Open record requests of the weedings have been made to the public.

Thanks,
Mark

Did we ever get a release that we can use with students as discussed in the meeting about SB 150?

Stephanie,

We have received an open record request for "the updated list of titles that have been removed from all five schools." I anticipate that this is about SB 150 and have sought clarification, so please have the LMS's from all schools send you a list of all things pulled from the library due to SB 150 by Monday, September 18th at noon.

Thanks,
Mark

I will reach out to them and request this information. Would you also like me to cc' the Principals and Steve Karsner so they are in the loop about the requested information?

Thanks,
Stephanie
